A supplementary report will be made when the auditing committee now investigating the finances of the penitentiaries has finished its work. This will deal with the State railroad and with the manufacturing plant at

Rusk. On the whole the work of the committee seems to be thorough and the report exhaustive, with the exception noted. It presents a difficult problem, but one that must be solved in some manner that will wipe out "the disgrace of Texas."

A Tribute of Genuine Worth

A man whose clothes fit him well, and give him the distinction of carefully studied style, is well dressed in Chicago, in Paris, in London.

Clothes which fall short in these qualities are as bad in one country as another—useless in any country—and are quickly passed by.

Men of discriminating fashions are wearing today, in the streets and clubs of London, clothes made in America by and bearing the Stein-Bloch label. Never before in her history has England witnessed such a sight.

It is a tribute worth while that Stein-Bloch are the only tailors in America who meet the Englishman's standards. It means that Englishmen, as well as Americans, have recognized in them the passport of the gentleman as indicated by the style and fit of his clothes.

The Fall and Winter collection of suits and overcoats is at your disposal, in your own home town, to be examined and tried on at your clothier's. Try them on. Their price is convenient to your purse and to your self-respect.

BRYAN, TEXAS, NOV. 29, 1909.

REPORT OF THE PENITENTIARY INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE.

The report of the penitentiary investigating committee as to the management of the prisons and camps was submitted to the governor Wednesday and published yesterday. The most important facts had previously been given to the public through the newspapers in a fragmentary way. In the report a complete statement of the disgraceful conditions is presented. It shows that the rules for the government of the officers, employees and convicts have been habitually violated and flaunted; that sanitary conditions are revolting; that convicts have been treated with barbaric cruelty, in some instances amounting to a fiendish delight in human misery; that the food is unwholesome, the clothing unsuitable and insufficient; that boys and men unaccustomed to hard physical labor have been set to tasks beyond their strength; that female convicts have been made victims of the lust of men still in the employ of the penitentiary commission; that moral and reformatory influences have been lacking and that the grossest vices have been permitted. Exceptions have been found on some of the farms, where conditions were as good as could be expected. The Huntsville prison was found to be in much better condition than the one at Rusk.

The committee recommends that a special session of the legislature be called to deal with the problem presented; that the entire convict system be placed in the hands of three salaried commissioners; that the wages of sergeants and guards be increased so that a better class of men can be secured; that the punishment of convicts be regulated by such rules as will reduce the opportunity for cruelty to a minimum; that the Huntsville penitentiary be enlarged, the old buildings being replaced by sanitary fire-proof structures; that the Rusk penitentiary be thoroughly repaired; that the contract and share system be abolished; that a system of grading the convicts be adopted, including indeterminate sentences and paroles; that females be segregated on a farm away from male convicts, in charge of married men with their families; that a portion of the earnings of convicts be given to the families of those who have dependent relatives, or deposited in trust for those who have no families, to be paid when released; that the board of pardons be required to visit all the places where convicts are employed once each year in order to thoroughly investigate and ascertain deserving cases; that better provision be made for medical and surgical attendance and for religious and moral instruction; that strict laws be made for the prompt and proper punishment of officers, guards and employees who

Dress Fabrics
 SILK, WOOL AND COTTON

If a store, as someone has said, can be judged by its dress fabrics, then we are willing to be judged by what we are now showing in these: For Beauty of selection, for correct styles, for broad varieties, for sterling values, we gladly stake our leadership upon the silks, wool and cotton dress fabrics that are now shown on our main floor. We know—our salesmen are telling us every day—our customers are speaking of it continually—that there is no showing of dress fabrics in our city that compares with it. But we will welcome your judgement just the same as if we were not already overwhelmingly assured that we lead all others here. And a word about our trimmings: Of course you know that no competitor seriously claims to carry so complete stocks of laces, trimmings and dress accessories as Eugene Edge. All the new conceptions are here. We'd be very glad to show you through our stocks. And you will not be importuned to make a single purchase.
